

EPICLESIS VIRTUAL CHAPTER HOUSE

Prayer and Eucharist, Thursday, September 21, 2023

Celtic Daily Prayer Book 2, Eata Readings, September 21

Psalm 107:24-30 † Jonah 1:13 † Acts 27:31-32, 34-36, 38

Daily Reading

When once a winter storm drove Cuthbert hard upon the shores of Fife,
one fearful comrade said
in his despair,
“To land in such a storm
is certain loss of life.”
Another cried,
“Return by sea is equal death,”
Then Cuthbert said, “Earth and sea
are both against us set,
but friends, look up
for Heaven lies open to us yet.”

--Alfred Perceval Graves (adapted)

Meditation

Lord, we put down our own preconceived ideas, and every high, proud thought that exalts itself against true knowledge of You. We want to take our thinking captive to Your creative, loving Spirit.

--Common Prayer for Ordinary Radicals, Celtic Prayer Book 2, Colman Readings, September 21