Celtic Daily Prayer Book 2, Eata Readings, December 10

Psalm 34: 3-6 † Malachi 4:2 † Matthew 5:15

Daily Reading

You won't believe this, yet if you would but let Him teach you, you would find your perplexities melt away like the snow in the spring, till you could hardly believe you had ever felt them. No arguing will convince you of a God, but let Him once come in, and all argument will be tenfold useless to convince you that there is no God. Give God justice.

Meditation

You close your doors and brood over your own miseries and the wrongs people have done you – whereas, if you would but open those doors, you might come out into the light of God's truth, and see that His heart is as clear as sunlight toward you.
